Subject:Hello

From:Robert Duncan <cyclotronheating@gmail.com>

To:Dr Katherine Horton

How is your husband?

[You interested in him!?!]

You seem to need my attention. What questions do you have?

[I need what!?!]

My apologies for being short with you. I was having a bad day and you seem to rub me the wrong way. You think your time is more valuable than mine. You come off as self important while there are 7.5 billion people to help. You want to skip to the head of the queue. My instinct is that you are prideful and selfish. Tell me about all your charity work so that I understand from where your attitude comes.

[Someone is having a bad day again.]

I assume that drama is more of a necessity than science as you enter the maze. You have much to learn. You need to read and listen. You are not the first nor will you be the last.

[Did you play a lot of World of Warcraft, Dunky?]

You have the educational tools to figure this out, quantum physics and hyper game theory. I made some decision tree schematics of how you perceive your situation and how others perceive you and the decisions that you will make as you continue this mind game. Will you find the cheese? I don't know.

[Cheese? Is this the worst ever chat-up email in the world?]

Be direct. Stop your drama. What questions do you have? You rub me the wrong way again.

[Don't want to rub you any way, frankly.]

People said you have such frustration that I will not waste my time on you that you posted "confidential" emails onto your website. I thought about it and tried to apologize but I find myself back to where I was. This is not about me. I live a good life. Be direct and not paranoid. What the f--- do you want to know from me?

[See above?]

I think that question would also tell you more about your role in this game, since you are not at the highest level yet.

Prove your education. I just lowered the ranks of recruiting from Oxford based on you. Explain the simple game theory of military strategy or economics based on the Nash Equilibrium without looking it up on google. You don't seem very smart to me.

[I use bing. Is it allowed to recruit non-Americans to DARPA?]

Were you a janitor at the supercollider?

[Never worked there. I was a physicist at the Large Hadron Collider. However, just recently, I asked an ex-MI6 agent who was pestering me via email if he worked as a janitor at MI6. Quite an unusual phrase, no? Dunky, are you reading all my emails via some DARPA or CIA interface to train your spam-bots on?]

Anyway, we will stop communicating because your mind has been mapped out and is far more simple than you subjectively feel.

[I dread to think what John Nash had to endure from the DARPA boys.]
