Sexism and sex slavery in science

Dear Sir/Madam,

In response to your article "Cern scientist: 'Physics built by men - not by invitation'"

<https://www.bbc.com/news/world-europe-45703700> where you are writing "Are you a female scientist or a woman studying science? What is your reaction to this story? Let us know by emailing", I would like to inform you about the following. I hope that you also report about these crimes at last because they are not only rife but also exploding exponentially.

As a physicist who worked at CERN and who was a research fellow at St. John's College, Oxford, I can confirm that:

1. In 2007, I suffered attempted rape as a graduate student by an Oxford tutor from another subject at Hertford College, Oxford, and my complaint was blown off by the Tutor for Women (a lawyer!) at Hertford despite another woman complaining about the same man.

2. I was non-consensually implanted with formerly classified military biotechnology, including radio-frequency microchips in the genitals for sex trafficking, at Oxford and at CERN. This happened in the period 2000-2012 in Oxford and in 2009-2010 at CERN.

3. I was sold into sex slavery with remote-controlled rape through my rectal and vaginal chips, currently 3-4 times per day, and non-stop physical torture with the bio-implants. I also suffer Directed Energy Weapon assaults to the genitals since 2016.

4. In 2012, I was trafficked for the stalking, torture and mutilation pleasure of a then new sitting UK Supreme Court judge, Lord Sumption. He stalked me at Oxford, in London and in Munich after I left the UK.

5. I founded an international criminal investigation team (<https://jointinvestigation.org>) and obtained the confirmation of countless women who are suffering the same type of remote-controlled torture, physical mutilation and rape.

6. I have a colleague from the European Space Agency, Melanie Vritschan, who is being raped just like I am, and who had a remote-controllable strangulator implanted in her throat that I analysed at the Paul Scherer Institute in Switzerland, and who had her foetus machine-gunned with Directed Energy Weapons while 9 months pregnant and whose new-born baby was taken away by sadistic criminals at Hospital Erasmus in Brussels.

I can confirm that sexism is rife at the University of Oxford, at CERN and other research institutes and has become even more violent than it has ever been! What makes the situation so insidious is that honest, hard-working colleagues are oblivious to the abuse that is going on, and when they are informed they refuse to react or even take the information on board. I have personally informed a long list of colleagues, see here:

<https://stop007.org/home/black-list/academics/>

none of them even as much as acknowledge the receipt of the information, much less offer any help whatsoever.

Evidence of my employment by Oxford and my work at CERN can be found here: <https://stop007.org/home/qualifications-work/>

Yours sincerely,

Dr. Katherine Horton
