Based on my experiences:

Psychological misdiagnosis, bias, medical abuse

Gang stalking
& related types of harassment

Break ins (home, lockers, & car for me)

Gaslighting

Dangerous behavior in cars (acts of sabotage, bad driving, car stalking, suspicious accidents)

involuntary hypnosis/suggestion

Sleep deprivation

Technological interference (signal interruption)

Family relationships changed or compromised

DEW attacks & other types of electronic harassment, abuse

Negative or dangerous police interactions (I had drugs planted in my personal effects, then police were called. VERY scary)

Other types of sabotage - relationships, jobs, projects, reputation, etc

Dear Katherine,

Well, it seems that my little exercise in writing an affidavit about my experiences with directed energy weapons unleashed the fires of hell. How interesting. I am very sad about my pet hermit crabs (my daughter's pets that I inherited) who have buried themselves for several months now. Animals are very sensitive to EMFs I think; I believe they use the earth's magnetic fields to navigate. So that is LAME.

As I mentioned, I've been, as you so aptly describe it, brutally attacked, for weeks on end. I've also been attacked around town, something that I had not noticed before. And I've been attacked in all kinds of new ways as well. Microwave attacks... in fact right now I'm at the library and the top of my head feels very hot. I've been attacked here before (noted on map).

Anyway, what I've been doing is keeping records of the attacks, including dates, symptoms, etc. I am going to put all of this into a web directory, and when I do, I will give you access. If you do end up using these documents in a court situation, I'd just like to know about it.

As far as that affidavit, I will provide you with a scanned copy of my final version, with some identifying information (of perps) redacted. I'll also include a photo of the notary seal: this, along with the language, is what makes it usable in American courts (at least that is what I understand.)

Attached are my notes about attacks between late March and today, and maps of attacks which occurred outside my home. Attacks in my apartment are not noted on this map - my apartment is of course where the vast majority of the attacks occur. And this is a conservative map. I believe that there have been more attacks than I'm showing here; I'm trying to only note a hit when I'm fairly certain about it.

Today was pretty mellow, but as you noted, as long as the Gestapo is running around with these weapons, it could get hot at any time. They seem to be EVERYWHERE. What a mess.

Until next time,

Erika
